A VIEW FROM WITHIN

From Within Ourselves

Stetson University, a view from within . . . a view from within Stetson . . . a view from within ourselves. Stetson affords many viewpoints, vantage points from which we observe and grow. In our time here we learn to view the world differently; we mature from the bright-eyed freshman, who finds in each thing newness and challenge, to the confident senior, seeing himself as a part of life at Stetson and somehow knowing that if he had not attended, the University would be somewhat less than what it is. Our view from within encompasses the full scope of our lives in a period during which we pursue the highest of ideals, knowledge, and values — this period known as our collegiate experience.

From our viewpoint, looking back over the past and anticipating the future, we realize the importance of the people in our Stetson experience. We see a vivid image of that certain professor who had such an impact on the path our life is to follow. We see with fondness that particular person whom we chose to love. We remember the late night conversation with a friend in which we examined closely our perception of life and did not emerge unchanged.

Time shall change our viewpoint, but may it never change our view of Stetson. We have grown and learned, and made memories of people that will last a lifetime. That is our view from within . . .

President Pope Duncan addresses the students and faculty at the 1986 Convocation ceremony.

DR. POPE ALEXANDER DUNCAN

Pope Duncan, a native of Georgia, came to Stetson in 1977 to serve as its seventh president. During the next 10 years, the University would progress in the areas of endowment, academics, faculty salaries, and campus renovation. Stetson achieved this under Dr. Duncan's leadership with the STETSON/$50,000,000 campaign.

In the latter part of the "Duncan Years," the University attained another goal: national recognition. Stetson has been recognized in several national publications as one of the best colleges or universities in the Southeastern United States.

Dr. Duncan has been a member of the faculties of Stetson, Mercer University, and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He served as president of the Association of Church Related Colleges and Universities of the South, and as a member of the Florida Council of 100. He and his wife, Margaret — who is a published poet — have three daughters.

Although Dr. Duncan is retiring as president this academic year, Stetson is fortunate to have this relationship continue. The Board of Trustees has honored Dr. Duncan by asking him to serve as the University's second Chancellor.

FOCUS 87

Friends On Campus

One of the most rewarding and enjoyable positions on this campus is that of the FOCUS staff member. We are the first people that new students meet upon their arrival at Stetson. Staff members assist new students and help them to integrate into campus life. More importantly, though, we are their friends.

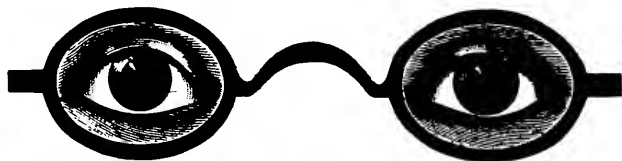

The FOCUS staff operates under the leadership of Jayne Marlowe, Director of Student Life, who keeps us on track and provides us with suggestions, time, patience, and support.

The backbone of the FOCUS program is the FOCUS group session. This is when each staff member meets with a group of new students and provides them with both information and an opportunity to meet many other students. Activities organized and conducted by our staff included workshops, a dance, a luau — "The Goombay Smash", a beach party, and a nationally recognized entertainment/icebreaker session called PLAYFAIR.

FOCUS is not only beneficial to the new students, but to the staff as well. Many feel that their involvement has been the most fun and fulfilling experience of their college life. We hope that each of you will have the opportunity to participate in this great happening and get your own VIEW FROM WITHIN.

RUSH 87

PX: A
Panhellenic
Sisterhood

The Rush Counselor program is a very valuable learning experience for select Greek women. A Rho Chi (PX) should be a person who is very open-minded, friendly, and, of course, likes to have FUN!!!

After selection, a PX retreat is held in order to become better acquainted with the Greek System, as well as with each other. On this weekend outing in the fall, the PX's not only learn the true meaning of Panhellenic spirit, but also how to help a rushee choose the sorority that will be best for her. After the work is over for the day, everyone ventures to a local establishment in Orange City to keep the PX tradition alive.

Throughout rush week, the PX's work with the sororities to make sure things run smoothly. In between rush parties, sororities are still practicing and PX's are meeting with their rushees. With good communication, any difficulties that should arise can be resolved.

However, in between meetings, the PX's always have time for fun. They can be seen eating together in the commons, socializing downtown, and singing "nasty" songs.

All in all, this is a growing experience for everyone involved. The rushees make new friends, the sororities become closer, and the PX's form a lasting Panhellenic Sisterhood.

GREENFEATHER

The Real Winners

"Don't give until it hurts . . . give until it feels good."

If that's the case, then Stetson students and faculty must feel great about their contribution to this year's Greenfeather.

The 1986 Greenfeather campaign was one of the most successful ever. The week brought students and faculty to work together in the spirit of giving. Not only did the Stetson community raise an unprecedented amount of money, but enthusiasm and participation reached an all time high. It was an incredible sight to see each person put aside academic pressures and spend time contributing to the welfare of those less fortunate in the Deland area.

The true winners of Greenfeather are neither the organizations with the most participation points nor the winners of the individual events. The real winners are the recipients of the money that is raised. The children who benefit from the Evergreen Day Care Center, Methodist Children's Home, and the Easter Seal Society have won . . . the families that use Hospice, the Duvall Home, and the Red Cross have won . . . and the people that need the services of the House Next Door, Neighborhood Center, and United Way have won.

And we, who have learned the importance of caring and the feeling of sharing ourselves with others . . . we, too, have won.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Real Life
Experience

The word "organizations" is so general, it can mean many different things to many different people. To those involved, it usually means working together to accomplish a common goal. Working with others, be it in a service club, a business fraternity, or a social club, can be extremely rewarding. Being involved with a variety of groups helps a person to grow and learn about himself and others. Ideally, a student's purpose at Stetson centers around classrooms and textbooks, the "real life" experience of involvement in student organizations can complement the overall result. A balance of both is necessary for a well-rounded education.

It's not the critic who counts. Not the man who points out where the strong man stumbled or where the doer of great deeds could have done them better.

The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena. Whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood. Who strives valiantly, who errs and comes up short again and again.

And who, while daring greatly, spends himself in a worthy cause so that his place may not be among those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.

Four Year Flashback

YEAR 1 . . . I can't believe how confused I was during RUSH. I never thought I'd make up my mind; but when I did, I chose the BEST! I must have worn my jersey every other day this year. It's obvious that I pledged the GREATEST chapter on campus. I couldn't be this happy anywhere else.

YEAR 2 . . . I came back from summer break with so much enthusiasm. I was ready to take on the responsibilities of being an initiate, then the chapter appointed me chairman of the sportswear committee. Obviously they are grooming me for chapter president. I've started my climb to the top!

YEAR 3 . . . What a hard year! I thought you were supposed to get along with everybody all the time. I never realized how hard it is to run a chapter and keep everybody happy too. I think I am experiencing the early warning symptoms of burnout.

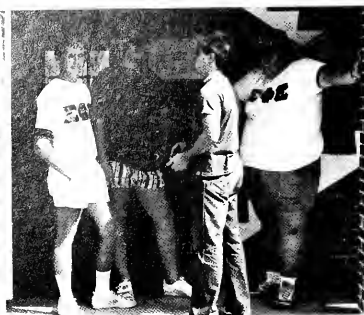

YEAR 4 . . . You would have thought that I'd get a break as a senior. I paid my dues and deserved a rest. But no-o-o-o, who did the chapter turn to for every little thing — SENIORS! Graduating is hard enough without having to think about breaking away from my chapter too.

. . . It's hard to say what I would be like without my experiences as a Greek; they've become a part of me. Greek life has challenged me, both emotionally and intellectually, and helped me realize my potential.

A Winning Combination

Athletes. through their participation in sports, learn and develop character and values such as . . . Attitudes. Athletes strive to learn and develop mature attitudes of unquestioning respect.

Time. Varsity sports are very time-consuming obligations occurring six days a week.

Hardwork. Athletes must push themselves physically and mentally. They give it their all, day in and day out.

Leadership. Athletes are often given the chance to develop leadership skills by directing the effort to accomplish the task at hand.

Expectations. Demands are constantly being placed on the shoulders of the student athlete. Pressure to perform comes from professors, coaches, and teammates who require the athlete to be responsible, motivated, and dedicated.

Teamwork. Individuals with their own ideas and ways of doing things coming together as one is team unity. This is the hardest and most important opportunity to grow, both as an athlete and as a human being.

Excellence. Athletes are people who set goals, work hard, and excel. They strive to be the best they can be on and off the field.

Success. If you put this all together (A-T-H-L-E-T-E-S) it spells success for school, team, and self- a winning combination!!

A Good Chemistry

It's Labor Day. Most people are enjoying the last weekend of summer but at Stetson, it's a BIG DAY! Over at the CUB, the returning students appear at their appointed time (the unlucky ones get the early times) to complete their registration. So many nicely tanned, familiar faces. It is busy for me but there is always time to ask the students how their summers were and what they did. They, in turn, ask me if I had a nice summer off. Are you kidding, do you think we leave the day after you in the spring and return the day before in the fall? It is good to see them back.

The next day is Freshman registration. I can see on their faces the anxiety and slight intimidation of the whole process. With the help of our staff and other "veteran" students, they manage to conquer this first day. From this day on, I'll be seeing most of them on a regular basis. It will be an on-going relationship of smiles and conversation. Stetson University may be over 100 years old but it is young in spirit and heart. The interaction between the faculty/staff and the students makes this possible. It's a good chemistry.

Personally, I wish all the students the very best. Your personalities are your wealth. Be happy and always be good to each other.

Smith will be done WHEN???

Nobody does it better . . . than Dr. Colwell.

Faculty members don their colors during Convocation.

A Smooth Transition

For the first time in the university's history, Stetson had a president-elect to provide the opportunity for a smooth transition between Dr. Pope Duncan and Dr. Doug Lee. It allowed Dr. Lee to become accustomed to the demands of the position and to learn through visiting other universities what he can do to make his administration run smoothly.

Dr. Lee talked with the presidents of Emory, Mercer, Trinity, and his alma mater, University of Richmond to get their advice on how they make their institutions function smoothly. Each president stressed the importance of an assistant to the president and Dr. Lee is planning on appointing such a person.

Throughout the year Dr. Lee spent a great deal of time in search for the new provost. The changes in the administration were being made with Dr. Lee as the president-elect in order to let him choose with whom he would be able to work best.

Dr. Duncan said he had no second thoughts about leaving Stetson because he feels that the university is in good hands with Dr. Lee. He is looking forward to his retirement and plans on spending five months out of the year at his cottage in North Carolina where he will do some writing. He will also serve as chancellor to Stetson and will work on the committee of Southern Colleges and Universities

President Pope Duncan smiles warmly as he anticipates his upcoming Chancellorship.

With great respect, the faculty of Stetson University listens to Dr. Duncan's Convocation speech which signified the beginning of the 1986-1987 academic year.

President Duncan, acting Provost Gillespie, and President-elect Lee invest time and attention to the students as they listen to the opening FOCUS address.

President Herbert Douglas Lee will take the helm at the end of the academic school year.

Strong Academic Leadership

Organizing the various departments in the University, the Deans coordinated both daily events and long term projects for the University.

Over the past ten years the College of Arts and Sciences has expanded tremendously, and during the previous year the school underwent a reworking and refining of its curriculum. Dr. Gary Maris, Arts and Science Dean; expressed great pride in programs such as the year abroad, Russian Studies, the newly created Latin American Studies minor, and the Honors Program.

The Dean of the School of Business, Dr. William Wright, spoke highly of the school's accounting department, whose graduates have consistently received outstanding scores on the national standardized accounting exam. He also noted the quickly expanding computer division, which has instituted five new courses and received 50,000 dollars for equipment to tie the network into one main frame located in Flagler Hall. "The strength of the Business School is the students and the professional organizations," Dr. Wright said.

Aside from its many community-oriented programs, the music school welcomed several outside performers throughout the year. Dean James Woodward expressed the importance that the faculty members remain active in performing.

Dr. Clyde Fant, the Dean of Chapel, planned the interdenominational chapel service every Wednesday. Students and faculty members participated in this service by performing such functions as the litany and scripture readings. Also, eighteen internationally recognized theologians came to lecture on current issues.

The Department of Continuing Education and Research and Graduate Studies worked to establish a liaison between Stetson and the community and to help the general public keep up with changes in society. Dr. Douglas Strickland hoped to expand the program into new areas.

Dr. Clyde Fant is a very resourceful man.

Dean Woodward has high expectations for the Music school.

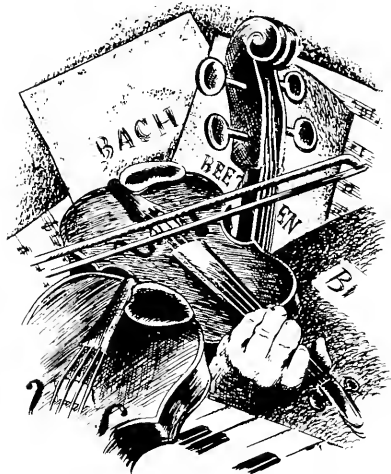

Dean Wright actively supports the continued success of the School of Business.

Can't You Relate?

After all, it's the real reason we're here, right? Then how come our attention is often focused elsewhere and taking care of this "school business" is sometimes so secondary? Aw, c'mon—you know what I mean . . . those night-before-they're-due papers; realizing the night before the exam that you're six chapters behind. (Of course, upon being handed the syllabus at the beginning of the semester, a feeling of ambition overcame you and you SWORE you'd keep up, but . . .). So you spend the next three hours trying to grasp the material when you get invited to Friendly's, Freshwaters, or Frat Row. While there, you think, "Hmmm. Maybe, just maybe, by some stroke of Divine Providence you won't have IT tomorrow."

Yes, and what about your chatting merrily with your classmates before class begins (realizing, the entire time, that you have NOT read the material to be discussed that day) and being "ticked" when the professor walks in and hands you a pop quiz?

Or, avoiding 8:00 am classes like a veritable plague, and if AB-SO-LUTE-LY stuck with one, hoping the professor finishes on time so that you can still catch breakfast? What's that you say? Not ME???

You're not guilty of any of these academic idiosyncrasies? C'mon . . . That's what I thought.

Our Continuous Support

National/Local Publicity ... published ads ... TV ads ... radio ... mail promotions ... solicitors.

Stetson Publicity ... posters ... The Reporter ... Commons' table tents ... The Hatter ... WSTN ... CUB Marquee ... Touchstone ... campus mail ... Rodney's Electronic Information Board ... newsletters ... meetings, meetings, meetings ... Stetson Grapevine.

Personal Publicity ... body language ... vocabulary ... listening ... individual actions ... facial expressions ... interpersonal relationships ... word of mouth.

Ranging from national to personal publicity, advertising is the communication between two or more organizations or individuals with the purpose of exchanging information. No matter what form, from national TV commercials to personal conversations, the information exchange is accomplished and images are established.

In the yearbook, as in many other situations. The Stetson Hatter depends on the support of the community. To all of the merchants and businesses in the area and the parents of students, sincere gratitude is extended for continuous support enabling us to record the moments of today to last as memories forever.

CARING PEOPLE . . . CARING FOR PEOPLE

These highly trained professionals add the gentle touch to medical care. They ease the pain, console the aches, and take a little bit of the fright out of hospitalization.

We are dedicated to excellence in medical care and to serving the needs of patients regardless of race, creed, religion, sex, or national origin.

We salute your dedication to the pursuit of professionalism and the perseverance in caring for the future of America's success.

MANY THANKS TO THE FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION OF STETSON UNIVERSITY
FROM THE FATHER OF C. BOWLING SENIOR
1986-1987!!!!

We have just traveled through a VIEW FROM WITHIN Stetson. A final reflection shows some special memories we share with our FRIENDS FROM WITHIN.

Follow Your Dream . . .
Take One Step At A Time.
And Don't Settle For Less,
Just Continue To Climb.

Follow Your Dreams . . .
If You Stumble, Don't Stop
And Lose Sight Of Your Goal,
Press On To The Top.

For Only On Top Can We See
The Whole View
Can We See What We've Done
And What We Can Do.

We Can Then Have The Vision
To Seek Something New . . .
Press On,
And Follow Your Dreams!!

When we finally reach that mountain top we currently strive to climb, we view all that we have left to achieve.

Much Luck & Love,
